FOREWORD and DEDICATION

IT IS the theme and purpose of this, the twenty-fourth annual Hixonian to set forth ideas of the greater and broader education. The school, as an institution of learning, has taught us, in the broad sense, five great truths. These are so important that they have been incorporated in the following pages as titles for the chapters of this book. They are, in order, education as taught by "Human Relationship", education as gained through our own desire for "Mental Growth and Development", education as provided by "Varied Interests and Activities", education as inculcated by "Sportsmanship and Physical Development", and, lastly, education gained through "Cooperation".

Therefore, we, the Senior Class, dedicate this volume of "The Hixonian" to these five attitudes, earnestly desiring that they be propagated by the American student in his quest for knowledge. That this book in years to come, may refresh fading memories of what High School education has meant to us is the desire of the Class of '39.

It has been customary in the past for each Senior Class to raise as much money as possible and spend it all in publishing this annual. Many excellent Hixonians have been compiled in this manner. But this year a budget calling for a great reduction of expenses has been arranged by the Board of Education. This has been done primarily for two reasons; first, we believe that the Hixonian should come nearer to the state of being self-financing, and, secondly, we believe that it gives splendid training in that it requires much care in planning and managing to publish a book as good on less money. It requires a greater sense of value. So, please do not judge us by the number of pages herein, but, rather, judge us for what we have placed in them.

Students and public: We, the Staff of the Class of '39, present to you the twenty-fourth issue of the Hixonian for your approval. This annual "gleaning of memories" was a great undertaking. We wish to express our gratitude to all who have assisted us in bringing forth this issue, and especially thank our advisors who were most invaluable to our organization.

We hope that in future years you will open this Hixonian and visualize our high-school days.

Educational Institutions

To summarize the theme of education as presented in this book we have pictured here education of the past, education of the present, and education of the future. In the lower left hand corner is a picture of a school which only a few will remember. It stood at the site of the present building and was torn down in 1895. Of course you recognize the picture at the left while the school below is rather incomplete as yet. In fact, if you look again you will see that there is only one school which is entirely finished.

HUMAN RELATIONSHIP

The student realizes early that his education depends to a large extent upon the harmony of his relationship with his teachers. Responsibility for such relations rests with both the directing forces, comprised by the Board of Education and the Faculty, and with the student. But the greater portion of the responsibility is taken by the teachers; it is they who are trained in the methods of making the relationship such that the pupil becomes interested in learning and acquiring an education. It is they in whom the student must have confidence when he needs help and advice.

Therefore, a good corps of teachers is essential to promote student interest in the correct attitudes to take toward education and social relationships.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Twelve years ago, when you, the graduating class of 1939, entered the first grade, America was enjoying an unparalleled prosperity. Automobile production far surpassed previous records; car loadings were the highest since the World War; a home-building boom was in progress. In New York, that day was considered lost which did not see a new record established for stock prices and volume of trading. A high school or college graduate had few worries about securing employment. His only problem was "which of the various available jobs shall I take?"

Then came the stock market crash, followed by a complete collapse of our banking system. Industrial production was a mere shadow of its former self. Farm prices reached rock bottom. It was cheaper to burn corn than to buy coal. Unemployment fell to dangerous, almost revolutionary proportions. Bank failures reached the epidemic stage, and for a short period every bank in the United States was closed. Desperation and terror were plainly written on the countenances of the unemployed, while those who had jobs lived in mortal fear of being "laid off." Hunger, malnutrition, exposure, worry, and fear were the order of the day and "relief" became the principal function of the government.

Gradually, slowly, the wheels of industry again began to turn. Farm prices slowly recovered some of their previous losses. Relief and government employment were providing a marginal existence for the unemployed. By 1936 it seemed that prosperity was truly "just around the corner."

Just as industrial recovery seemed assured, labor disputes became prominent. The "sit down" strike became an instrument in labor policy. Labor was divided against itself, with rival factions "tying up" key industries. Capital and management, appalled by the potency and devastation of these new phenomena, retrenched, and down we went again, not so deep, perhaps, but down.

As this is written, I sit by the radio, listening to every available news broadcast, hoping that I will not hear a last-minute bulletin stating that a general war has broken out in Europe, a war in which we must inevitably become involved.

All this has been expensive. The cost in human resources cannot be estimated. The cost in social progress is likewise incalculable. But we do know that the national debt has risen to a dangerous "high" of thirty-nine billion dollars, which amounts to three hundred dollars for every person living in this country. And we assume that it will eventually be paid.

Yes, we have made a mess of it! While you were receiving your basic education, we, who have been directing the various affairs of our country, have given you a kaleidoscopic display in social, political, and economic history not equalled or approached in any previous American era.

In a few short years all this becomes your worry and responsibility. The fate of our nation, the fate of the principle of Democracy, perhaps even the fate of contemporary civilization depends upon how well you and your immediate predecessors and successors execute this responsibility. God grant that you do a better job than we have done.

MENTAL GROWTH

The following pages showing the classes from Junior High School to the present Seniors represent a rapid transition. Perhaps, on first thought, we would say the change is physical, but there is an equally great change mentally. Gradually our attitudes have changed concerning education. We have gone from the stage of the resigned thoughts of "school is compulsory" to the realization that education is a privilege.

Our interests have widened; we have come to depend more and more upon our own initiative. Our personalities have been developed remarkably, greatly through the efforts of the school as an educational institution.

We begin to regret that we have not worked just a little harder in the classroom and we agree that they are indeed fortunate who have the opportunity of furthering their mental growth in college.

ACT I

Harry Smith, President

Ed West, Vice President

Betty Shull, Secretary-Treasurer

In the year of 1935, this graduating class of 1939 accepted their minor roles in a great four year drama. We spent our time in the usual way, studying, learning high school customs, and attending class parties occasionally. Back of the "Green Freshmen", our student body had a sincere desire to play our roles well.

ACT II

Dick Datzman, President

Minnie Ellen Lewis, Vice President

Ed West, Secretary-Treasurer

Our Sophomore year gave us a feeling of ease—of being at home. Our most interesting activity was the publishing of our Sophomore edition of the Spoondrift.

ACT III

Dick Datzman, President

Ed West, Vice President

Vance Laub, Secretary-Treasurer

Aha! Our Junior year promoted us to the dignified position of playing upper classmen roles. Now we have the privilege of giving dances, publishing a school paper and expressing opinions as upper classmen. I think I speak the true thoughts of everyone concerned when I say the Junior-Senior Banquet was the main event of the year.

ACT IV

Betty Shull, President

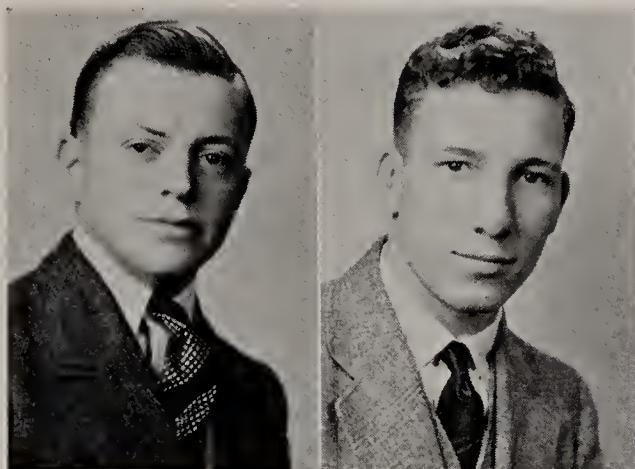

Vance Laub, Vice President

Lucille Wonderly, Secretary

Ed West, Treasurer

The curtain rises the last time on this group of fifty-two Seniors. This year the big show is on and we want it to be a success. Our class is distinguished in that it is the last to graduate from the old building, has two four letter men, all four cheer leaders are Seniors and we have the first High School Eagle Scouts.

As the show draws to a close some wish that they might play their roles over patching them up here and there, others feel that they have done their utmost, but regardless we all feel that the completion of this achievement leaves forever fascinating memories.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Class of 1939, about to leave the hallowed halls of Hicksville High as the last graduating class, wish to leave some of our predominant characteristics to the classes entering the new school, hoping they will perpetuate the old qualities in the new Hicksville High.

I, Gerald Ames, leave my manly height (?) to Bill Friend, if it will aid him next year as a basketball player.

I, Ardon Bauer, will and bequeath my sports managing job to some industrious underclassman.

About to leave, I, Winona Bennett, give my Latin knowledge to John Skinner who needs it badly.

I, Jaunita Brown, relinquish my love for writing letters to June Shirley.

Trudging on, I, Derril Cole, lend my interest in coon hunting to Loren Stuckman.

Popping along, I, Francis Cole, will and bequeath my years of daring experiences with vehicles without a scratch to Bob Harkey.

I, Elva Countryman, will my shyness to Alice Jean Etchen.

Graduating soon, I, Betty Cromley, abdicate my throne to some deserving Junior girl.

Coming to the fork in the road, I, Waldo Cromwell, leave my sedate but charming way with the girls to Jack Adcock.

I, Dick Datzman, relinquish my secret for distinguishing two of a kind to Betty Blythe.

We, Irene Deardorff and Miriam Thiel, give our serene but attractive years of silence to Betty Wallden and Grace Miller, knowing they will fill them.

Leaving the old school, I, Bob Elliott, will and bequeath my gay personality to Maurice Curry.

I, Betty Finzer, will my humanitarian interests to James Panico, hoping he will take it easy with the boys at football practice next year.

I, Paul Folk, leave my course in advanced book-keeping to Cecilia Rohrs.

About to go out into the world, I, Charles Giffhorn, give my bass voice to Ted Keller, so that he may join the glee club.

With much regret, I, Willard Green, leave my mighty pitching arm to Glen Hower.

I, Max Greer, gladly extend my book-dropping ability to Bob Tuttle and Linus Vetter knowing they will continue it.

Graduating soon, I, Jean Guiss, lend my interest in doctors of the future to Welma Smith.

To thee, Candace Arrants, I, Kathryn Hadsell, gladly extend my lost sleep, knowing you will find it.

I, Lucille Harkey, bequeath my ability to get around to Betty Wright.

Knowing she will use them to the best of her ability, I, Margaret Harkey, leave my dreamy eyes to Eileen Ginther.

Being sound in body and mind, I, Dorothy Haver, leave my reed-like figure to Marilyn Siebert.

Since I'm just a little live-wire, I, David Husted, leave my breezy personality to Bob McComas.

Wayne Hootman requests that Andy Panico takes his stack of Reader's Digests, and finishes reading them.

I, Edward James, leave my cute way with the girls to Bill Bowen, and request he use it sparingly.

Having finally decided, I, Vivian Killian, wish to give my fascination for graduates to Betty Haskins.

Regretfully, I, Phyllis Kline, leave my ability as a pianist to some verdant freshman.

After due consideration, I, Elmer Lantz, leave my bowling scores to Bob Larson.

I, Marie Lantz, will my auburn tresses to Julia Ann Fetzer.

Being sure that I make no mistake, I, Vance Laub, leave my excellent grades to Ted Karageorge.

I, Minnie Ellen Lewis, give my undiminishing love for one male to Dorothy Miller.

With much pleasure, I, Kathleen McCollough, leave my heart to George (Walters).

After hours of meditation, I, Dora Ruth Myers, have decided to bequeath my naturally curly hair to Frances Ames.

Able bodied, and fit as a fiddle, I, John Olsson, leave my blond, curly locks to Robert Wade.

Feeling very generous, I, Richard Reeb, leave my seat in Gus' to George Lenz, and my mustache to Kenneth Myers.

I, Mervin Robertson, will my good humor to John Carr.

After my own choosing, I, Marjorie Rodocker, leave my quiet and retiring ways to Rowena Stewart.

On graduating, I, Harry Smith, leave my basketball ability to Dick Hoffman.

Since I need it no longer, I, Irene Smith, have decided to give my formula for catching a man to Virginia Whitehurst.

I, Richard Sowers, will my quiet disposition and stable mind to Jimmie Campbell.

Regretfully, I, Margaret Stauffer, will my ability to captivate the boys to Dorothy Wentworth.

I, Eva Strubing, leave my graceful carriage and tall stature to Esther Spires.

After due consideration, I, Frances Swager, give my beautiful dreams to Doris McKinley, provided she stays home long enough to have one.

I, Dean Thompson, will my teeth to some Freshman who hasn't got his second set yet.

We, Ed West and Betty Shull, leave our years of companionship to M. Ridenour and G. King.

To thee, Helen Switzer, I, Geraldine West give my cheerful smile.

With some regret, I, Ethyl Wittig bequeath my steadiness with one man to Martha Johnston.

I, Lucile Wonderly, will my fondness for out-of-town boys to Leila Osmun.

With great pleasure, I, Dale Wort, have decided to give my height and box of Wheaties to "Pee Wee" Miller.

Finishing up, I, Eldean Yarger, leave my beautiful handwriting to Jackie McCalla, and may she profit.

JUNIORS

When the members of the Freshman class of 1936 wandered into the assembly on their first day in high school they were a very bewildered group. They gazed in awe at the upperclassmen and vaguely wondered if they would ever be able to walk across the assembly as nonchalantly as the seniors did.

But now they have come to the spring of 1939 and are on the threshold of their Senior year.

The Junior year for this class has been by far the most eventful of their three years in high school. The "Spoondrift" and the planning of the Junior-Senior banquet became the main issues.

But there are many more events to come for this class in their Senior year to which they look forward with eager anticipation.

In the fall of 1937, our class, one of Hicksville's largest, enrolled as the Freshman Class hoping to graduate in '41. Awkwardly and dumbly we stood around with open mouths watching the teachers and upper classmen, who had us at their commands. After the first semester we lost some of our green manners, becoming a little more frank in our actions and talk. We elected Jacqueline McCalla, Ted Karageorge, and Helen Camp, as our class officers.

In our Sophomore year, we were confronted with a novel experience, publishing our first Spoodrift. We are eagerly awaiting that time when the Spoodrift will be given to us for further publication. We hope that in our next two years, we will be able to achieve even greater things than other classes before us have achieved.

The fifty-seven pupils are striving to make the class of '42 one of the most outstanding classes ever to graduate from Hicksville High School.

VARIED ACTIVITIES

Education is not complete if only the bare essentials covered by the three "R's" are taught. There must be other extra-curricular work to round-out the educational program and provide opportunities for expression of a variety of talents. The value of such activities can hardly be over-emphasized. Hicksville can justly be proud of the school's progress in this field. The literary and journalistic branch is represented by both the school-paper, "The Spoodrift", and the annual, "The Hixonian". Music, as represented by the Glee Clubs, Chorus, and Band, has certainly flourished. The department of dramatics is also rapidly coming into a greater prominence.

Indeed, these varied interests have made a definite contribution to the broader education.

Worked hard? Yes. The publishers of the Spoondrift have done that very thing, but it was worth it. Their success, due to work and cooperation, will bring back memories which will repay them many times over. Let us, too, remember that their victory, again this year, was greatly due to the untiring efforts of Mr. Patterson, their supervisor.

HIGH SCHOOL CHORUS

This year the chorus is made up of thirty-eight members, who were selected after a general test had been given to the entire High School. They have been singing a great deal of very fine music. The music has covered a wide range of composers, ranging from the early fifteenth century masters through the centuries to the present time, even including a few compositions by the ultra-moderns. In fact, a few of the songs were copyrighted as recently as 1938. Most of the music worked on this year has been sacred. The chorus has presented several of these numbers in the worship services of the various local churches throughout the year.

The chorus participated in the Northwestern Ohio Vocal Contest, a contest which they had likewise entered the previous year, and received one full rating higher this year than last. They were rated as "excellent". In this contest the chorus competed against nine other schools.

A group of sixteen were selected to represent our school in the All County Chorus, which presented a short program under the direction of Mr. Jones of Defiance in the County Music Festival, which was held April twenty-eight in the new Sherwood High School Auditorium.

We want to thank Mr. Kooistra for his fine work in directing this chorus.

Fourth row: Hurni, Townsend, Perkins, Hoffman, Hurni, Cottrell, Husted, Connolley, Monroe, Kline, Hofmeister, Blythe, Shull.

Drum Majors: Roan, Wright.

The Hicksville High Band under the able direction of Mr. Karl Kooistra is steadily progressing. At present the band has fifty-four members, two drum majors, and a corps of eight twirlers.

The band presented thirteen weekly concerts last summer under the leadership of Mrs. Kathleen Daugherty and since the school year has begun it has made twenty-one public appearances.

The band members have worked hard this year trying to get their practice sheets filled with three hours a week or more and to keep ahead on the chart.

Eight band members will graduate this year but their places will be taken by members of the Junior Band which has a membership of twenty.

The band organization has attempted to do a little novelty work this year such as making letters, a cartwheel, and waltzing. These stunts seemed to be enjoyed by spectators.

The purchase of new red and white uniforms has been made possible through the noble activity of the Band Mothers' Association. Within nine months this organization raised $1350 and is raising $250 more. The $250 will be used to purchase white uniforms, similar to the drum major's, for the twirlers. We want the mothers to know that we do appreciate their fine work.

Twenty-three members of the High School Band have been fortunate enough to be able to participate in the County Band which will be under the direction of Mr. Lumbardy of Napoleon.

All in all this seems to have been a fine year for the Hicksville High School Band.

"HIS OZARK COUSIN"

A Three Act Comedy Farce

By J. Dan Fairman

Mrs. John Rankin—age 45. A typical mother of today	- - - - -	Betty Finzer
Jack Rankin—a son, age 23. College type	- - - - -	Paul Folk
Glenda Rankin—a daughter, age 21. Serious, yet having a sense of humor	- - - - -	Minnie Lewis

Randall Haines—a son, age 21. Modern young man	- - - - -	Bob Elliott
Frances Haines—a daughter, age 20. All around American girl	- - - - -	Lucille Wonderly
"Uncle" Zeb Tyler—age 60-70. Typical Ozark Mountaineer	- - - - -	Dick Reeb

"Shades of Bob Burns, Little Abner, and several Daisy Maes" brought us a fun special. The play was full of hill-billies and their mountain witticisms, yet the characters were mainly college grads and blue-bloods from the East.

The Rankin family, though living in the Ozarks, were all well-educated and affluent. They received a letter from some distant Eastern cousins, stating they would arrive soon on a visit. In the letter were several unflattering intimations as to the possible rustic mode of living of the Rankins. This aroused the ire of the Rankin young folks who decided to give the visiting cousins a taste of what they were evidently expecting. They donned mountain clothes and dialects, and the arriving guests found themselves in the midst of feuds, "moonshining", and more "mountain atmosphere" than they had ever dreamed of.

The fun mounted fast and furious. With the help of friends the Rankin "feud" with the Starks waxed merrily. Uncle Zeb, the only genuine mountaineer in the lot, had more excitement than he had had since he "fit in the war agin the Yanks". The highpoint in the hilarity came with the hillbilly "wedding" that settled the feud. The Eastern cousins turned out to be regular folks and "all's well that ends well."

Mr. Connelly's direction of this play was greatly appreciated.

CARNIVAL—A HIGH SPOT IN GOOD FUN

SENIOR CARNIVAL — A GALA EVENT

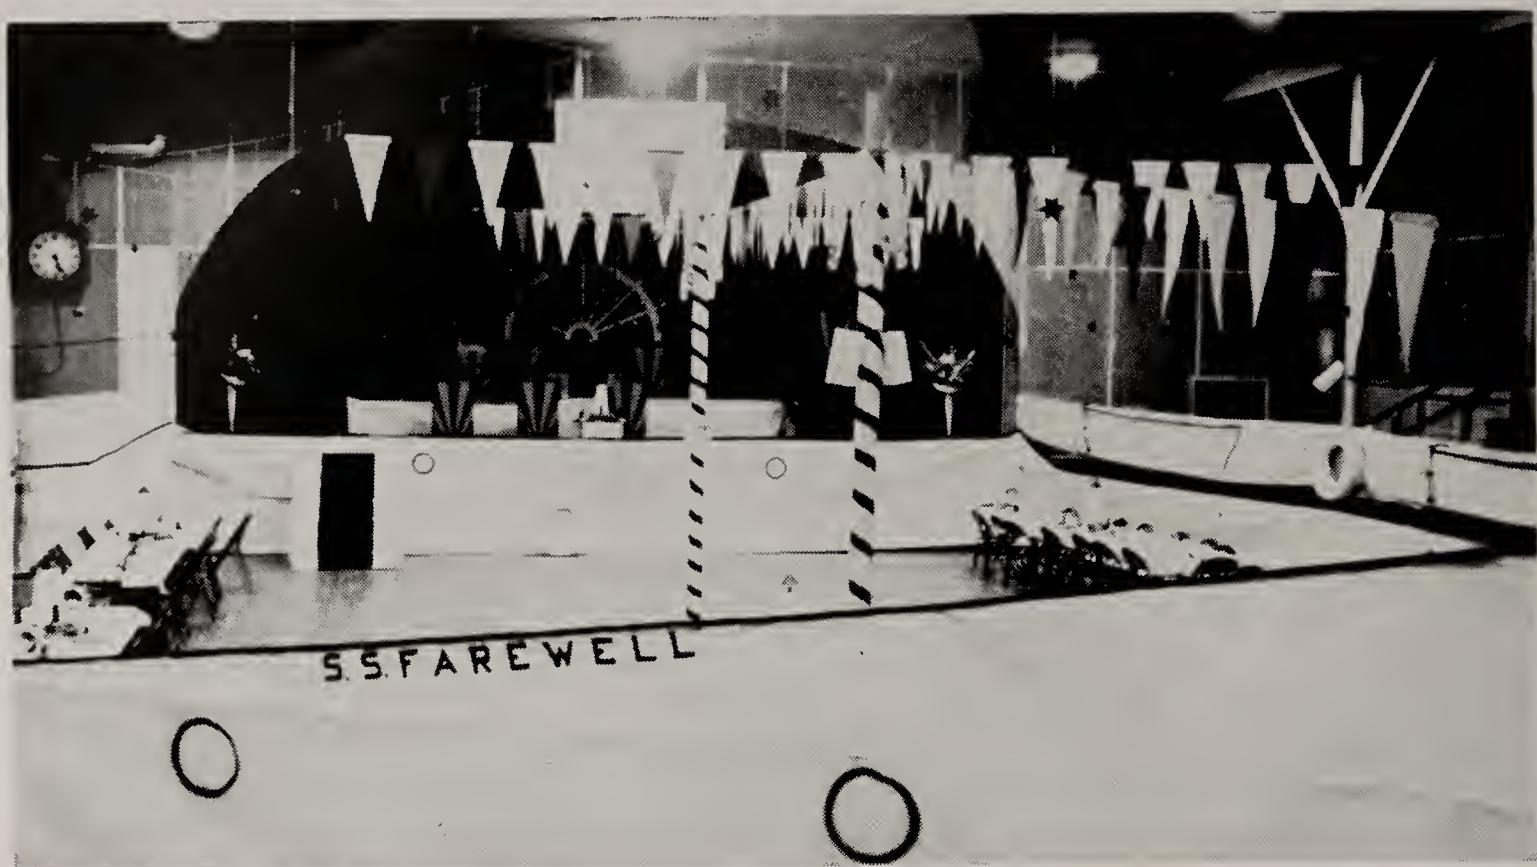

The Seniors chosen by the High School to make up the King's Court were: Betty Cromley and Ed West as queen and king, Minnie Lewis as the most attractive girl and Bob Elliott as the boy with the best personality, Betty Shull and Vance Laub as the girl and boy most studious, and Jean Guiss and Dick Datzman as the two most likely to succeed.

This eventful evening had its beginning at 7:15, November 18, 1938. The first adventure of the Carnival was a parade including the High School Band, torch bearers, and the royal cars. The Royal Court were to have been on a float but due to the rain in the afternoon this had to be omitted. Upon returning to the gym, the Royal Party were led to the back of the building and were seated. Two numbers by the band preceded the crowning ceremony. While the drums rolled the Kingly Procession proceeded to the Royal Altar in couples according to their chosen rank to be crowned and awarded their titles. Following the applause each couple were seated on the stage to enjoy the Court Entertainers. This entertainment included a skit by members of the freshman class, comic songs by Dale Wort and Paul Folk, a tap dance by Peggy Roan, music by the band, and a duet tap dance by Julia Ann Fetzer and Betty Grae Lunger. This part of the evening was then ended by the Grand Parade leading to the official opening of the Carnival in the school building. Here were refreshment stands, fortune-telling booths, a bingo game, wrestling matches, a dart throwing contest, penny throwing, a ball throwing game, a fish pond. After a loud and happy time all present went their respective ways. Thus the Senior Carnival ended.

PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

Athletics represents the physical side of education and it is recognized as having a definite contribution to make toward the acquisition of knowledge and the broadening of abilities. Good sportsmanship is not just "being a good loser" but it is, rather, "being a good winner". Athletics in Hicksville, although it is not yet at the top, has made great strides of progress in the last two years. Therefore, comparatively, we can say that we have had a successful season. Everyone knows where the greatest credit for this progress should go. We all respect Mr. Sapp's ability and honor his friendship. We seniors know that the "material" is good for a greater success next year and it is our parting desire that Athletics in Hicksville will soon be "tops".

"Mike": The effects of "Mike's" two years of coaching are beginning to show up. The improvement in football and baseball both is great. The teams next year are going to be even better. No tribute is too high to pay to this little man (little in size but large in ability), who was not only a good coach but was a friend who would do anything for his boys.

A. BAURS — MANAGERS — B. BOWEN

Those boys had a very successful season. They lost only one game, and that was by the narrow margin of three points. We are expecting many of these boys to be regulars next year. They will furnish competition that will enliven and encourage the first team of "39-40".

Do you like to walk? We do. Everyone of us walked about twenty-five miles. Basketball? We like that too, and at ping pong we're all champs.

We hold our meetings every third Monday in the month. At these meetings we set aside a portion of the evening for business, have a short program, then play Basketball until about ten in the evening.

On Thursday nights after school, we play ping-pong, and other evenings we hike.

Our organization sponsored the Inter-Class Tournament of this year.

On Monday evening the Senior boys and the Junior girls were eliminated. On Tuesday evening the Senior girls were passed up after giving the Freshman a good battle. Also the Freshman boys were eliminated.

Now in the finals, after a nip and tuck game all the way, the Freshman girls finally won from the Sophomores and the Sophomore boys from the Juniors. The awards were presented by Betty Cromley. One-half of the gate receipts were given to the Boys Athletic Association for the purpose of buying new suits.

The G. A. A. Banquet was held April 17, 1939, and all the mothers of the G. A. A. members were invited also. The girls with the highest number of points received letter awards.

COOPERATION

Man is a social being; he must depend upon others for almost everything he enjoys. In other words cooperation is an essential in all business and social success. We have come to realize this more and more as we have gone through High school.

Bringing this theme down to right now and applying it to this book, we see that it would be an impossibility for us to publish it for your pleasure and for ours if it were not for those who advertise herein. While we feel that they received full value, yet we must thank them for their interest in the class of "39" and for their cooperation in the interests of education.

As you turn these remaining pages and read their adds, please remember that it is they who "have something" or they would not advertise it.

NESTS OF THOUGHTS

MAKE yourself nests of pleasant thoughts! None of us yet know, for none of us have been taught in early youth, what fairy palaces we may build of beautiful thoughts, proof against all adversity; bright fancies, satisfied memories, noble histories, faithful sayings, treasure-houses of precious and restful thoughts, which care cannot disturb, nor pain make gloomy, nor poverty take away from us; houses built without hands, for our souls to live in.

—John Ruskin.
